A message to Marines, permanent personnel, and families

As a majority of Americans tune in for updates on COVID-19, we want to thank you for continuing to support our mission of 'Making Marines' with the same professional excellence we have come to expect. Please know that leadership at MCRD Parris Island is closely tracking CDC and Navy Marine Corps Public Health Center updates and making decisions based on the latest information.

Your health, and the health of your families, remains a top priority. Continue to practice good hygiene habits and other CDC recommendations listed in the video by the US Navy Surgeon General, which is available to view on our official Facebook and www.mcrdpi.marines.mil. You can also visit the CDC's information page, the NMCPHC information page, and the DOD information page.
